Topics for discussion include:

- The masks we wear
- How our childhood has shaped us
- Communication in relationships
- How we deal with stress and emotions

Starting on Wednesday, 7 June and running for 4 consecutive weeks.

We will meet at Relationships Australia SA, 9 Kay Ave Berri, for a 6pm start and finishing at approximately 7.30pm. Tea and coffee provided.

Hello everyone!

I hope you are well. I found this story recently and wanted to share it with you. It's about a battle we all face.

The Two Wolves

A grandfather was teaching his grandchildren about life. He said, "A battle is raging inside me... it is a terrible fight between two wolves. One wolf represents fear, anger, envy, sorrow, regret, greed, arrogance, self-pity, guilt, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride, superiority and ego. The other stands for joy, peace, love, hope, sharing, serenity, humility, kindness, benevolence, friendship, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion and faith."

The old man looked at the children with a firm stare. "This same fight is going on inside you, and inside every other person, too."

They thought about it for a minute, and then one child asked his grandfather, "Which wolf will win?"

Their grandfather replied: "The one you feed."

I've got a saying hanging up in my office which says "Be kind whenever possible. It is always possible." In my experience showing love and kindness to others not only has a positive impact on them, but also me. Our attitudes are contagious and affect the people around us, whether at work, school, home, in the community or at the supermarket. When we make a choice to "feed the wolf" which stands for joy, peace, love, hope, kindness and compassion it makes life better for everyone, especially ourselves.

If you need any support or would like to see me for any reason, I'm at the school every Thursday all day. I'll away on June 15th, as I'm attending a Conference on wellbeing in Adelaide. I'm looking forward to sharing with you some of the information I'll be picking up when I get back next week!

Have a wonderful week.

Best wishes,

Erin Harrald
